

The Tweddle In Home Service responds to the growing demands placed on families.

"Children learn about themselves and how they can expect the world of people to be through early relationships."

Sharne Rolfe

We work to build capabilities to support the crucial role parents play in healthy child development and lifelong wellbeing.

Parenting can be difficult

Do you sometimes:

- Think there may be an easier way to do this...but how do I find it?
- Get confused by conflicting information?
- Want someone to talk to about your parenting concerns?
- Feel frustrated by the wait involved to access information and assistance?
- Want 'hands on' advice?

Tweddle In Home Service delivers an evidence based program to parents with children aged 0-4 years based on over ninety years of history, research and skills.

Tweddle Home Visiting Program can provide you with convenient, fast access to an understanding professional who will tailor their guidance and assistance to your individual needs, in the relaxed privacy of your own home.

Consultants can help with parenting concerns such as:

- Unsettled babies
- Parenting uncertainty
- Infant and toddler behaviour difficulties
- Sleep and settling concerns
- Breastfeeding, bottle feeding
- Baby and toddler feeding problems

"Tweddle is working with you to build early parenting foundations."

Tweddle In Home Service packages include:

- Two or more home visits of two and a half hours per visit;
- Experienced and caring health professionals;
- Follow up phone call at an agreed time with your home visiting professional;
- Additional resources for easy reference.

Our personalised approach will cover:

- Support and insight into specific areas of concern such as behaviour problems, sleep and settling difficulties, feeding.
- A discussion about any of your concerns or questions about parenting.
- What is normal at your baby's age and what you can expect.
- How to develop a flow to your day.
